

Gillen Fined $5, Reiss $20 in Slot Machine Cases Here

Two Trials Taken Up and Cases Disposed of Wednesday in Police Court—Twelve Cases Set Down for Hearings on September 8.

Judge Culliton was busy Wednesday in police court when he heard the evidence in two slot machine cases that were tried before him that day. In the case of John R. Gillen, where the agents from the district attorney's office found a slot machine, Mr. Gillen was found guilty of the charge and fined $5. Following the Gillen case the trial of Edward "Dutch" Reiss was taken up and at the close Reiss was found guilty and fined $20.

The Gillen case was taken up at the morning session of court on Wednesday and continued that afternoon when Ernest LeFever of the Kingston Trust Company was called to identify the signature of Gillen attached to a telephone company contract for the public telephone in his cigar store.

John J. Cuneo, who owns the premises at 614 Broadway where the cigar store is located, was called and testified that Mr. Gillen occupied the store.

No Evidence Offered.

Attorney N. LeVan Haver of the district attorney's office who represented The People closed his case with the testimony of Mr. Cuneo.

Attorney Arthur B. Ewig, who appeared for Mr. Gillen, offered no evidence to contradict that offered by the two agents from the district attorney's office who testified to playing the slot machine in Gillen's store. Mr. Ewig moved to dismiss the information and discharge Gillen.

Mr. Haver in opposition to the motion said that Mr. Gillen was present in court during the trial and had not offered to take the stand and testify, and that the evidence offered by The People was uncontradicted. Judge Culliton found Mr. Gillen guilty of the charge and imposed a fine of $5 which was paid.

When the police raided the Gillen store last Thursday the machine which the agents said they found in the store was missing, and so was not seized.

Reiss Case Tried.

The trial of Edward "Dutch" Reiss, who said he operates a lunch room at 13 Hasbrouck avenue, was taken up for trial with Reiss represented by Attorney Francis T. Murray, and The People by Attorney Haver.

Although Maynard Gochensaur of Highland, the agent from the district attorney's office, testified he found three slot machines in Reiss's place when he visited it in July, when the police made the raid last Thursday they found the door locked and did not obtain entrance and no machines were seized.

Picked Out Reiss.

Mr. Gochensaur when he took the witness stand was asked by Attorney Haver if Reiss was in the court room. "He is," replied the agent.

"Step down and pick him out," said Mr. Haver.

Gochensaur stepped down from the witness stand and walked to the back of the court room where Reiss stood with a group of men and pointed him out.

Taking the witness stand again the agent testified that he had visited the Reiss premises and found three slot machines; two five cent machines and the other a dime machine. He said he played all three machines and received money from the machines which was introduced in evidence.

Had No Slot Machines.

With the testimony of Gochensaur The People rested their case and Mr. Reiss was called to the stand by Attorney Murray. In reply to his lawyer's questions Reiss said he was engaged in the lunch room business at 13 Hasbrouck avenue, and that he had no slot machines in the place. He said he never saw Gochensaur before and that the agent was not in his place on the day he said he was.

Judge Culliton at the close of the evidence found Reiss guilty as charged and fined him $20.

This is the largest fine so far imposed in the slot machine cases.

Summons Demands Jury Trial.

The case of Harvey Sammons, one of the proprietors of the S & C lunch room on the Strand, had been set down for trial on Wednesday but Mr. Sammons asked for a jury trial and the case was set down for a hearing before a jury on the evening of September 8.

Cases Adjourned.

As Judge William D. Brinaker, attorney for John J. Cuneo, arrested on a charge of having a slot machine, was suffering from an attack of hay fever, he said he would not be ready to try the Cuneo case today and it was set down for a hearing on September 8.

23 Cases on September 8.

There are no more slot machine cases to be heard before September 8, according to the court calendar, and on that day 23 cases are marked for a hearing.

Ambulance Calls Here.

On Wednesday the city ambulance removed Mildred Jones from the Kingston Hospital to 69 Liberty street, and Mary Miller from 18 Elmwood street to the Benedictine Hospital.

City Treasurer's Office.

The office of the city treasurer at the city hall will be open this evening from 7:30 to 9 o'clock for the convenience of taxpayers who are unable to visit the office during the day.

Clubs and Gunfire Routed Miners Who Planned Invasion

Six Hundred Deputy Sheriffs Routed 15,000 Miners Who Attempted to Invade Franklin County in Past Month.

Boston, Ill., Aug. 23 (AP)—Battered clusters of defeated men and women were all that remained today of the confident throng of approximately 15,000 striking miners and members of their families who attempted to invade Franklin county late yesterday to picket coal mines as a protest against lowered wages.

Fifteen minutes of gunfire and wounding of clubs by a force of approximately 600 deputy sheriffs ended the attempted invasion, which leaders of the strikers had termed the "greatest labor march ever undertaken in the United States."

Nearly a hundred miners suffered battered heads. Six persons were injured seriously enough to require medical treatment, including two who suffered minor bullet wounds. The strikers' automobiles and trucks at the scene of the onslaught in the hurry to escape, automobiles were driven into ditches or plunged into cornfields along the highway where the clash occurred, near the western boundary line of Franklin county.

Fired at Times.

Shotguns and pistols were fired at the times and bodies of the automobiles and trucks that led the 9-mile caravan and windshields were broken by falling clubs wielded by deputy sheriffs. Some of the marchers were cut by flying glass, but the injuries of most of them were inflicted by deputies who climbed aboard the cars and pummeled occupants.

The strikers, whose leaders had insisted that the invasion would be peaceful, made no resistance, but fled as quickly as possible back into Perry county. Later some of the straggling groups made camps along the highways, at safe distances from Franklin county, and spent the night.

The main group, however, returned to Duquoin, southwest of the scene of the defeat, and spent the night in the Perry county fair grounds.

Some of the leaders said another attempt would be made to invade Franklin county, but state highway patrolmen who aided the retreating strikers in their flight from Franklin county, said their forces had been hopelessly dispersed, and that many of the marchers returned to their homes in northern and central Illinois.

All Were Armed.

A half mile west of Mulkeytown, a crossroads village about two miles over the Franklin county line, the deputy sheriffs closed the highway. All were armed. Shotguns, machine guns, revolvers and clubs were brandished before the invaders. As the caravan crossed a railroad track, deputies climbed aboard the first five cars, directing the drivers to a highway intersection and ordering them to turn about. Suddenly down the line a shot was fired. It was followed by another, and soon the sound was almost a barrage. The shots were fired into the air and ground and at automobile tires.

Flag decked cars wavered then and were faced about by their drivers, and the invasion became a retreat.

Automobile and truck windshields crashed, glass flying and cutting occupants of the vehicles. The nine mile parade behind the advance guard halted as the routed cars returned. The battle of Mulkeytown was over, deputies keeping their promise to permit no invasion.

Riots Continue in Germany

Berlin, Germany, Aug. 23 (AP)—Rioting which followed Tuesday's death sentence against five Fascist political leaders continued last night, and at dawn today 20 persons had been injured in varying degrees.

Street fighting continued sporadically following the attempt of a group of Adolf Hitler's Fascists to stage a demonstration when he summoned them to the Reichstag. During the struggle with police, stones smashed windows in several Jewish stores.

Meanwhile, Premier Luskachek of Upper Silesia issued two decrees intended to cope with the situation. One forbade transportation of political groups in large buses, and the other prohibited political parading in the streets. The penalty was a fine of 150 marks (currently about $38).

The five Nazi followers were convicted in a "speed court" of the murder of a Communist in the disorders that marked the latest German election campaign.

MOLLISSON CONSIDERING OFFER TO GO INTO MOVIES

New York, Aug. 23 (AP)—Captain James A. Molliison, Scottish flier, today was considering an offer to go into the movies as a technical adviser and actor.

Approached yesterday by Warner Brothers he may announce his decision today.

He availed reports of favorable word for his return flight to England. Dr. James M. Kimball, the weatherman, said it would be two or three days before the contrary conditions move out of the way.

General Sacanello, Spanish Leader, Is Sentenced to Death

One of Most Famous Spanish Soldiers of Modern Times to Die For Leading Rebellion Against Republic.

Madrid, Aug. 23 (AP)—Jose Sanjurjo Sacanello, one of the most famous Spanish soldiers of modern times and commanding general of the army, was sentenced to death today for leading a rebellion against the republic.

A mixed civil and military tribunal of the supreme court reached the verdict after twenty hours of deliberation, while the nation waited and demonstrations for and against the "Hero of Morocco" were restrained with difficulty by government forces.

Friend Sentenced.

General Sanjurjo's lifelong friend and companion-at-arms, General Hernandez, received a sentence of 30 years in prison which in Spanish law is equivalent to life sentence. Lieutenant Colonel Infante was sentenced to 12 years. General Sanjurjo's son, Justo, a captain, was given his freedom.

General Sanjurjo's attorney immediately started efforts for clemency. He appealed to the president against a sentence he called "a disgrace against the government and the country." France was asked to intervene because Sanjurjo was decorated with the Legion of Honor at the presence of Spanish and French army detachments for heroic work in Morocco against the Rifis.

No Clemency.

There was no recommendation of clemency in any of the sentences. The government alone has the power to alter the verdicts, and immediately began a study, refusing to make any announcement pending a decision of a cabinet meeting. Those close to the cabinet members gave the impression of gloominess.

A dispatch from Barcelona said a special judge had ordered Justo Sanjurjo's property worth approximately 1,000,000 pesetas, seized.

Extra patrols of police and civil guards were posted at strategic points throughout the city as rumors of another monarchist plot were heard. The only demonstration, however, was a Socialist celebration in the streets facing the Casa Pueblo Workers' Union headquarters. The celebrants were dispersed.

PLANS PROGRESS FOR ROOSEVELT'S RECEPTION

Sea Girt, N. J., Aug. 23 (AP)—Preparations were completed today for New Jersey's reception Saturday to Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, the third Democratic presidential nominee to visit the "Little White House" since it was occupied by Woodrow Wilson.

In choosing Sea Girt for one of his important campaign speeches, Roosevelt followed the footsteps of Alfred E. Smith in 1928 and John W. Davis in 1924. Smith has not accepted an invitation to attend the Roosevelt reception.

After traveling across the state accompanied by Mayor Frank Hague, of Jersey City, Roosevelt will lunch in the "Little White House" as the guest of Governor and Mrs. A. Harry Moore.

Roosevelt's speech will be delivered at 3 p. m. from a platform erected in front of the governor's cottage. Twenty amplifiers will be erected on the parade ground facing the cottage.

MRS. CHAPLIN WILL OPPOSE EFFORTS OF HER HUSBAND

Los Angeles, Aug. 23 (AP)—Lita Grey Chaplin, divorced wife of Charles Chaplin, film comedian, said today she would oppose efforts of her former husband to prevent their two sons from entering films.

"I don't believe any parent has the right to take away the chance of their children entering any profession and particularly when it is one which they will follow in the footsteps of their father," said Mrs. Chaplin.

The screen comedian was in possession of a temporary order restraining Mrs. Chaplin from allowing the boys, Charles, Jr. and Sidney, 6, to enter film work. A hearing on the order will be held Saturday.

PROTEST AGAINST TUNNY BEING DISQUALIFIED

Olean, N. Y., Aug. 23 (AP)—A protest against the disqualification of John F. Tunny, Jr., Olean entrant in the Washington-Cleveland air derby, was forwarded to officials of the Cleveland air races today by a group of Olean citizens.

Tunny was disqualified at Jackson, Miss., yesterday by official scorers who announced he had changed the propeller of his plane at Augusta, Ga. The change, they said, increased the speed of his ship.

The protest was made, it was said, on the grounds that the change was sanctioned by the race officials and that Tunny should have been disqualified at Augusta rather than Jackson where he had taken the lead in the derby.

SEIZE ALLEGED SLOT MACHINE AT BURL PLACE.

An alleged slot machine was seized at the Burl place, Four Corners, Saratoga, Wednesday evening and brought to the sheriff's office by Deputy Albrecht and McCullough, who made the seizure.

Burl was notified to appear before Justice Charles E. Bennett of Saratoga at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Japanese Foreign Minister Defends Country's Policy

Foreign Minister Baron Uchida Announces Intention of Japan to Soon Recognize New Manchuria State.

Tokyo, Aug. 23 (AP)—Outlining her foreign policy, Japan today declared the world's peace machinery offered no remedy for "the chaotic condition of China," and announced formally her intention to recognize in the near future the new Manchurian state, Manchukuo.

The declaration was made by Baron Uchida, the foreign minister, before an extraordinary session of the House of Peers, and its text was cabled to many foreign capitals for distribution.

Formal recognition of Manchukuo, the foreign minister said, was "the only means of stabilizing conditions in Manchuria and establishing permanent peace in the Far East."

"There are those in other countries," Uchida went on, "who do not fully comprehend the attitude of Japan toward China nor the measures she has taken."

Revolutionary Policy.

"It is an undisputed fact that the chaotic condition of China and the so-called revolutionary policy carried on by China under the enthralling influence of extravagant political dogma have been principally responsible for the unfortunate turn that international relations have taken of recent years in the Far East."

"It is admitted by those conversant with actual conditions in China that no remedy can be effected by having recourse either to the covenant of the League of Nations or to any other organ of what may be termed 'machinery of peace.'"

"In fact it has been the practice of the powers, as has been demonstrated on innumerable occasions, to repair or prevent injuries to their important rights and interests in China by direct application of force without relying upon those instruments of peace."

Replies to United States.

Great significance was attached to the baron's address in view of recent pronouncements from the Washington administration that the United States would not recognize territorial changes wrought through violations of the Kellogg-Briand and other peace treaties. Japan has interpreted these as an attack on her course in Manchuria.

Uchida denied any treaties had been broken. His assertions were considered replies to Secretary of State Stimson of the United States and to President Hoover, who have made statements on the point.

The minister went on to say that Manchukuo had come into being as a result of separatist movements within China and herself, and denied that Japan was seeking to annex Manchuria or "otherwise satisfy her thirst for land."

He took note of a plan "in certain quarters" to "pitch up matters for the moment" by having China with some form of authority over Manchuria, and declared that the people of Japan would never consent to the idea.

2 Men Severely Hurt in Automobile Crash

James Oliver, 22, of 1718 East 15 street, Brooklyn, a son of the late Dr. James Oliver of High Falls and William Stewart, 42, of Stone Ridge were severely injured when the car in which they were riding crashed into the stone wall near the Smith place on the High Falls-Rosendale road shortly after midnight this morning. The scene of the accident is a bad turn in the road about a mile from High Falls.

The men were brought to the Kingston Hospital, where their injuries were treated by Dr. Louis Schillingbaum, who reported their condition this noon as good. Stewart has a possible fracture of the left leg and lacerations on the hip and face. Oliver, who was more severely injured, has possible fractures of the skull and right ankle, extensive lacerations of the head and scalp and lacerations on the left knee and right arm.

BUCKFAST ABBEY IS CONSECRATED TODAY

London, Aug. 23 (AP)—In the presence of the Papal Legate, Francis Cardinal Bourne, and many foreign bishops and abbots, the rebuilt Buckfast Abbey was consecrated today, after 25 years of steady labor by the Benedictine monks.

This was the first consecration of its kind in England since the Reformation, 400 years ago. Cardinal Bourne's sermon was broadcast.

Brother Paul Loebe Bourne, expelled from Burgundy with many others 46 years ago, bought the land and discovered the foundations of the ancient abbey. It had been intended to build only a small gothic church, but the discovery of the ruins impelled the monks to restore the abbey to its twelfth century proportions.

Blind Dog Bit Girl.

It was reported to the police department on Wednesday that a blind dog had bitten a girl named Dorothy Peck of 135 Green street, in the left hand and returned to the dog house. The wound was treated at the Kingston Hospital. The dog was said to be owned by the family who reside downstairs at the Green street house.

Financial Leaders Perfect Plans For Friday Conference

Washington, Aug. 23 (AP)—Summoned by President Hoover representatives of more than 100 National Business groups met with government financial leaders today to perfect plans for the administration's business conference here Friday.

In the office of Secretary Mills were chairman of the business and industrial committees of the twelve Federal Reserve District working over the program for tomorrow, when President Hoover will address the gathering.

Tentative plans for making money easier and spreading jobs were brought to the meeting from informal discussions of some of the conference chiefs, including Owen D. Young, prominent Democrat and chairman of the New York committee.

Henry M. Robinson of Los Angeles, intimate of Mr. Hoover, was in charge of today's session of the executive committee.

Some Democratic political leaders looked warily at the conference. Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic floor chief, issued a statement last night through the Democratic national committee expressing hope in results of the conference, but asserting "the association of business and intellectual leaders of the country with these schemes has been unavailing because they have been used merely as a sounding board for the Republican party." However, Democrats as well as Republicans comprise the group of business leaders who hope to keep funds flowing to make the way for a real revival and more jobs.

In addition to Secretary Mills, Secretary Chapin, Eugene Meyer, governor of the Federal Reserve Board; Alton Pomeroy, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; and R. P. Lamont, former secretary of commerce, were invited to today's meeting.

Others included George E. Harrison, governor of the New York Federal Reserve Bank; and Jackson E. Reynolds, of the First National Bank of New York.

PLAN EXPANSION OF LOYAL ORDER OF MOOSE IN EUROPE

Cleveland, Aug. 23 (AP)—Plans for a large-scale expansion of the Loyal Order of Moose in Europe were under consideration here today by the order's international convention.

The plan calls for holding next year's convention on a trans-Atlantic ship. The delegates would land at Cardiff, Wales, and then tour England, Germany and other continental nations to organize new lodges.

It would be the first attempt of any American lodge to carry its organization to Europe on such a pretentious scale. The cost was estimated at $250,000.

Prominent leaders of the order pledged nearly $100,000 toward the expenses, yesterday. Senator James J. Davis, director general, and four others, offered $5,000 each, and the British Lodge, through E. Morgan Willmott, of London, pledged an additional $25,000.

Conferring of fellowship degrees on 500 candidates and the annual financial report of Malcolm R. Gilles, supreme secretary, were other events on today's program.

GRIEVANCE COMMITTEE STUDIES DR. WALKER'S CASE

New York, Aug. 23 (AP)—The grievance committee of the State Board of Medical Examiners has taken under advisement charges of fee-splitting against five doctors, including Dr. William H. Walker, brother of the mayor.

The charges were preferred by Paul Blanshard, head of the city affairs committee, a citizens' group, and a preliminary hearing was held yesterday to determine if they warranted trial.

The committee ruled that to constitute ground for action, the facts must establish fraud or deceit. Fee splitting cannot be considered prima facie evidence of fraud, it said.

LOCAL AGENTS BUSY IN PUTNAM COUNTY

Seizures and arrests were made in three places at Lake Mahopac, Putnam county, Wednesday, by investigators from the Kingston prohibition office, acting under search warrants. The defendants in all cases were held for arraignment before Commissioner Platt, the charge being possession. The places visited were:

Mac's Cabin, Edward Lockwood arrested and alleged Scotch, rye, gin and beer seized.

The Elm, John Schranz arrested and alleged beer seized.

White Oak Restaurant, Ernest Sackman arrested and alleged Scotch, rye, gin and beer seized.

STUCK SECOND TIME BY PASSING AUTOMOBILE

Olean, N. Y., Aug. 23 (AP)—Arthur T. Blake of Bradford, Pa., was back in an Olean hospital today and wondering just what sort of a grade motorist has against him, struck and severely injured by an automobile the day before yesterday.

Three weeks ago he was struck and severely injured by an automobile. He was released from the hospital the day before yesterday, but just as he was run down again he was run over by a truck. He was injured back in the first accident and internal injuries in the second.

Lee and Bochkon Off On Atlantic Crossing With Norway as Goal

Left Harbor Grace Early Today in Flight to Oslo, Norway—Expect to Complete Trip in About 10 Hours.

Harbor Grace, N. F., Aug. 23 (AP)—Clyde A. Lee of Oskosh, Wis., and John Bochkon, of Brooklyn, N. Y., took off at 5:02 a. m. Eastern Standard Time, today for Oslo, Norway.

Their plane, "The Green Mountain Boy," rose into a cloudless sky. Weather reports gave them a tail wind across the Atlantic and predicted clear weather on the other side except for some rain 600 miles out.

The fliers expected to make the 3,150 miles to Oslo in 30 hours but they carried enough gasoline to stay aloft for seven hours beyond that time. Their route lay via Dublin, Ireland, Boston, England, and Cuxhaven, Germany.

Cabin Doors Sealed

The cabin doors of the Green Mountain Boy were sealed to make room for emergency gasoline tanks and a hole was cut through the roof as a means of entrance and exit. Lee hoped that the empty gas tanks would keep the ship aloft at least until the motor could be cut loose with a back saw they carried in the event they were forced down over the ocean.

With the weight of the motor gone, they thought they would be able to stay above water for some time.

Provisions included sandwiches, 2½ gallons of water, a quart of milk and a pint of coffee. Concentrated food tablets were taken in the event of an emergency.

Hubert Huntington, navigator of the flight, stayed behind at Harbor Grace, to direct the fliers. It was Huntington who gave the final ok on the weather this morning.

Charter Ships' Positions

Navigator Huntington has charted the position of all ships along the Green Mountain Boy's route and he planned to communicate with the vessels by radio should Lee and Bochkon fall to be sighted at specific points.

The fliers arrived on the field an hour before the takeoff. Warned the motor up, put their ration boards and shook hands all around. The small gathering of local folks gave them a big cheer as they roared down the airport and took the air in the center of the field.

Lee, only 24, has done no ocean flying but has had about nine years' experience in the air.

Bochkon, four years his senior, began his flying career in the Norwegian Air Forces in 1930.

Home Loan Bank Districts Chosen

Washington, Aug. 23 (AP)—Headquarters for twelve banks to serve home-financing institutions in each of the dozen districts it has created, were sought today by the Federal Home Loan Board.

This was the next move forward after yesterday's action dividing the country into twelve districts. Speedy action was promised by the board.

Difficulties in determining the new banking regions were solved by the board after a two-week study. It said the districts were arranged so that states in each would have mortgages sufficient to supply business for the district home loan bank.

This rule determined also the amount of capital for each district. The New York area, topping all others on the basis of $5,500,000,000 in available mortgages, was assigned $20,000,000 capital.

The district, available mortgages, and assigned capital for each bank, include:

No. 1—Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut. Mortgages $2,600,000,000; capital $12,500,000.

No. 2—New York, New Jersey, Puerto Rico and Virgin Islands. Mortgages $9,500,000,000; capital $20,000,000.

No. 3—Delaware, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Mortgages $1,600,000,000; capital $12,500,000.

No. 4—Maryland, Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and the District of Columbia. Mortgages $2,600,000,000; capital $10,000,000.

Treasury Receipts.

Washington, Aug. 23 (AP)—Treasury receipts for August 23 were $1,351,329.94; expenditures $8,709,336.50; balance $777,000,245.54.

Customs duties for 22 days of August were $17,350,245.11.

Piles Go Quick

No Salvers—No Cutting
Thousands who have itching, bleeding or protruding piles have not yet learned that quick and lasting relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salvers nor suppositories remove the cause.
Bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The hemorrhoidal veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To get rid of piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation, drive out the thick impure blood, heal and restore the affected parts.
Dr. J. S. Lushardt, after years of study, found a real internal pile remedy. He called his discovery HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1000 patients with success in over 900 cases, and then decided every pile sufferer, no matter how stubborn their case, might try his prescription with a money back guarantee.
HEM-ROID tablets have such a wonderful record of success in this city that McRide Drug Stores and all good druggists invite you to try HEM-ROID and guarantee money refunded if it does not end your pile misery.

Methods To View
Total Eclipse
By HOWARD W. BLAKSLEE,
Associated Press Science Editor.
New York, Aug. 25 (AP).—There are eight different ways of looking at the total eclipse of the sun which will cross New England August 31 about 3:30 p. m., eastern standard time.
Three of them are by use of invisible radiations, and all eight will be employed at this eclipse, if the weather is fair, on a scale greater than in any previous eclipse in the world.
First there is the old smoked glass, or its substitute, transparent filters which the corner drug stores are selling by the stack in New England. Scientists advise the public to use these up to the moment the sun disappears behind the moon. The penalty for failure is risk of permanent eye injury. This is a real danger in view of estimates by conservative astronomers that this eclipse will be viewed by crowds larger than ever before.
Second comes the telescope, also well known. A good many spectators will use small telescopes.
Third is the mirror—a variation of the telescope, whereby the eclipse image is reflected from a mirror into a telescope and there either photographed or observed.
Fourth is the spectrum, a prism of glass, which breaks up the white light into all the hues of the rainbow. It is used by astronomers to identify the different kinds of matter composing the sun. With it they even count the number of atoms giving the light which falls on the spectrum.
Fifth is the use of infra-red light, the heat rays seen by the eye, but visible in a wide band in recently invented photographic film. Astronomers will take this "infra-red" image of the eclipse by using filters which shut out all other light. It will tell them vividly what the great heat rays of the sun may be doing that is different from the story gleaned from observing the ordinary light.
If haze spoils the ordinary view of the eclipse, these infra-red rays are expected to come through clearly, as if there were no barriers to vision.
Sixth is ultra-violet light. This too is invisible, differing from the infra-red in having very much shorter wave lengths. So the ultra-violet observations will show an aspect of the sun not so clearly visible in either ordinary light or infra-red.
Seventh is radio waves—not strictly a method of seeing, which consists of vibrations which scientists say are probably practically of the same materials as light, that is electro-magnetic and differing from it only in having extremely long waves. But radio waves will be set flying through the air all during the eclipse to ascertain more about the disturbance between day and night radio transmission.
Eighth is seeing from an airplane five miles or more aloft. Planes have risen for previous eclipses, but not to the heights hoped for at this spectacle. At the new altitudes aimed for August 31 it is hoped to carry human eyes and cameras higher above the earth's obscuring dust than ever before. The reward, aside from magnificent spectacles and unique photos, should be pictures and sight of a wider band of the pearly light surrounding the sun during eclipses.
This light is the corona, which streams out into space many millions of miles. Its outer edges—if it has any sharp enough to be called such—never have been sharply identified. On earth, even on mountain tops, they melt finally into the atmospheric haze.
Far aloft also the red tongues of flame—the solar prominences—may catch themselves more sharply on panchromatic photographic plates.

ROLLER SKATERS PAY
VISIT TO KINGSTON.
Lou Phillips, aged 26, former United States Marine, and Jolly Flo Ayers, aged 33, former United States nurse, arrived in Kingston Wednesday night at 9:30 from Havana, which ended another leg of their journey on roller skates throughout the 48 states.
On arriving they gave an exhibition in front of the Broadway Theatre and were taken care of for the night by the local V. F. W.
This trip throughout the 48 states was started on August 10. On completion will receive $5,000 from the Chicago Roller Skate Co.
Jolly Flo, who has been skating since 1930, is the only woman who has ever attempted such a trip on roller skates. The team covers about 25 to 40 miles a day. Wednesday they traveled 45 miles, coming from Havana, last Tuesday they were in Albany and received the state seal from Governor Roosevelt.
Lou Phillips made a cross country trip in 1929 from Washington, D. C., to San Francisco and then back to Denver. He covered 6,352 miles. On crossing the Great Salt Lake desert he was stuck for 40 days.
The team is leaving for Newburgh today, where they will remain for the evening.
Elmer Ayers, husband of Jolly Flo and ex-United States naval officer, is the manager. He, along with Lou and Jolly Flo, wish to extend their thanks to the V. F. W. for the courtesy shown upon their arrival and stay in town, and especially to Commander Workman.
Mr. and Mrs. Ayers are from Lynn, Mass., while Lou Phillips is from Norwich, N. Y.

DOWN IN FRONT IS
CRY OF NEW HATS
Early Fall Showings Indicate
Style Changes.
Down in front. That's the cry of the Paris milliners just now, judging from the first examples of fall hats that have arrived on the last boat.
Hats are to be worn straight again, pulled down over the eyes in many instances. And front trimming is in again.
The hat-band with a bow front and center will mark the fall's newest millinery. And ruby, wine and grape red tones are the last whisper in the new velvet hats for fall.
An important trend, noted among the latest arrivals from Paris, is the large velvet bow in front, catching up the turned-back brim on a velvet hat.
Many of these are in two tones of the favorite wine colors—grape-red and crushed raspberry, for instance. It sounds like a sherbet, but it isn't.
There are a great many small shapes with turned-up cuffs or brims which dip to a point in front.
Toques are draped away from the back, toward the side-front. Some of the belted styles have brims turned up in back and down in front.
The beret toque of felt or velvet worn pulled over the eyes, cap fashion, illustrates the new trend.
Hemp—you know, the stuff that ropes are made of—is one of the newest hat trimmings.

COLOR RELATION
By CHERRIE NICHOLAS
Color relation as expressed through the costume has grown to be a very vital theme in the scheme of things. The prevailing sentiment is for accessories which are a perfect color match. This movement takes in every item from head to foot. The idea is carried out to a nicety in the ensemble pictured. The velvet embroidered dress which is done in a handsome open-work patterning in brown and white. The gros grain ribbon beret in brown as is the ribbon belt and the swatch of ribbon at the neckline. The kid pumps are brown and the hosiery is the same brown, only it appears much lighter on account of its sheerness. The fancy braided strap across the instep adds interest to this pump, which is an exponent of that which is smart in way of street and afternoon footwear.

STYLE NOTES
Black and white is as popular as ever.
Crinkly rough crepe is still in the lead.
Soft full sleeve is a feature of the newer modes.
Designers use wide girdles to give the modish high waistline effect.
Latest styling places emphasis on criss-cross and surplice fastenings.
Flower leis and flower sprays bordering part of the décolleté enhance many an evening frock.

Sleeves Continue to Press Their Importance
Sleeves are important matters these days. Many of the new dresses depend entirely upon their sleeves for silhouette. There is a general tendency in all the fashion houses to keep dress lines simple and flowing and to leave all accents of width or narrowness to the sleeves.
Among those who favor widened shoulders, many are following the means of obtaining width. Newer dresses avoid the obvious lines of extra gathers at the shoulder lines, or rolls of padding or ruffles at the shoulder seams. Newer methods are to put fullness into the sleeves just below the shoulder line, by cutting, draping and incrustations.
Copper Earrings
The woman who has natural style can wear the new copper jewelry. It is a bit bizarre, but when worn by the right type, very effective.

ANNEXATION

The Los Angeles Times, in lofty and serious mood, brings up the delicate subject of annexing Canada, having its discussion on the conflict developing at Ottawa between the Dominion and the rest of the British Empire. "Remote as is the present likelihood of such a union," it says, "the abstract suggestion does have logical considerations in its favor." The paper hastens to add: "Let it be clearly understood that the American people do not intend the annexation of Canada, are not scheming for it, and would vote out of office any official who sought to bring it about save upon mutually voluntary motion. Should it ultimately come about in the course of international evolution, it would constitute a splendid climax to the development of the North American Continent and unite two nations whose destinies lie naturally together." Which comment "always" was a good editorial. Thereupon the Toronto Globe, also in mood of lofty statesmanship and perfect courtesy, proceeds to explain that while Canada is thoroughly satisfied with her present status as part of the British Empire, there is a way in which Uncle Sam could establish closer relationship with her. That: "The British Empire is an unlimited corporation. There is room in the old home for all. The people of Canada would not dream of coercing the United States. But the lamp is in the window. The door swings both ways." Whenever Uncle Sam wants to join Miss Canada by joining the British Empire, that will be all right with Canada. And this, too, always was a good editorial. It is one of those things that just have to be written about every so often.

A COSMIC MYSTERY

The latest news about cosmic rays is disappointing. These are short rays which, according to Professor Milikan's theory, come from outer space and are produced in the creation of complex elements out of simple ones, making creation a continuous process and the Universe a going concern. They are the most penetrating rays known, so potent that they can pierce 15 or 20 feet of solid lead. Some scientists have hoped to harness them for useful mechanical work.

The whole theory is shaken by experiments in Germany, made with recording instruments in a balloon, which indicate that the rays diminish in intensity above a height of 25,000 feet. So they may not come from the outer universe at all, and matter everywhere may be going to pieces without being able to put itself together again, and we shall have to depend indefinitely on coal and gasoline and human muscle to get things done.

Where do those powerful rays come from, if not from outer space? Maybe they come from the minds of the economists, financiers and industrialists who, three years ago this summer, abolished the business cycle and built a permanent prosperity in the clouds. They are showing signs of renewed activity.

Clude Hendricks of Perry, N. H., does not seem to appreciate the good qualities of bees. They like his home and must be living in it, and have been making a store house of it. So effectively have they done their work that it is said every wall and ceiling in the house drips with honey. Carpenters have been called over and over again to stop up the cracks, but every time the bees get back in and add to their store. A good many people, not prejudiced against bees, will want to know what is wrong with that. It may be that Hendricks, who is crippled, simply does not understand bees. They are probably trying to do him a good turn. Think of having honey dripping right down from the dining room ceiling once year eternally and and pancakes, and the walls full of honeycomb. With proper co-operation these bees might provide the human tenant a good income. There is another good thing about bees, too. They keep ants away. The prosperity ideal of the old Hebrew prophets was "a land flowing with milk and honey." If Hendricks invited a cow into the house now, he would have a home flowing with milk and honey.

The head of the United States assay office in Helena, Mont., has asked the government for more help. So many prospectors are bringing in gold dust and nuggets that he is swamped. He says more placer gold is being produced in that section than at any time in the last 15 years. Similar conditions are said to exist in various other western and northwestern gold regions, supposedly played out. The unemployment and the higher buying power of the dollar has made gold more sought after than ever, and the swarms of prospectors inevitably increase production. This is one way of promoting mild inflation, and the most wholesome way. Let the prospectors go as far as they like.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

James W. Barton, M. D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act)
 THE LIVER.

I sometimes wonder if the person who first made the statement "life depends on the liver," really knew how great a truth he was stating. Some folks have in mind that the condition of the liver gives us our outlook on life; if the liver is working right we think life is a great privilege, whereas if the liver is not working right, we think of life as a very heavy responsibility.

Some years ago I wrote an article for one of the magazines entitled "The Organ That Makes You a Quitter." The thought was that if the liver is not working right it makes us "yellow" in appearance and yellow in our actions or the way we face our responsibilities.

Now just why is the liver called the "king of organs"? Because it is the largest organ in the body, weighing about six pounds; it has 25 per cent of all the blood of the body coursing through it all the time; it manufactures the bile which does three jobs in the body—breaks up fats for digestion, overcomes harmful organisms in the intestine, and is a natural purgative, stores up sugar from the starches so that when enough starch food is not eaten, there will be plenty of sugar for the blood to maintain energy; helps to form or color the blood itself; filters the poisons or harmful substances out of the blood, thus purifying it.

In addition to the above important jobs, Dr. G. S. McClure, Ann Arbor, Mich., reports that after a study of the function of the liver by examining the blood going to the liver, that coming away from the liver, and the pure blood elsewhere in the body, it was found that the liver is continually removing lactic acid from the blood, and giving out what is called free base.

Now it is lactic acid (waste from work or too much food) that makes you feel tired. If your lungs are pumping a good supply of oxygen into your blood, this oxygen will burn up lactic acid and you will not be tired. If the lungs cannot supply a sufficient quantity of oxygen, the liver actually removes this lactic acid from the blood.

The liver thus supplies a method by which the body can be free of "Acidosis"—too much lactic acid—when enough oxygen isn't coming in by way of the lungs.

The liver is a wonderful organ. An active liver means health. You keep it active by deep breathing or bending exercises, and by not over-eating.

ACTIVITIES OF CHURCH OF THE COMFORTER.

Next Sunday morning the Rev. Ernest R. Paley, minister of the Middle Collegiate Reformed Church of New York City, will preach the sermon. Mr. Paley is well known in this city, having taught in Kingston High School several years ago, and no doubt many of his friends will be glad to hear him. The public is invited to this service.

Plans are nearing completion for the cafeteria supper and lawn social, and the band concert to be given under the auspices of the Comforter Girls' Club next Monday evening, August 28. The supper will be served in the dining hall from 5:30 to 7:30. The Mechanics' Band of some 25 or 30 pieces will give a delightful band concert from 8 to 10 p. m. If it should be stormy the concert will be given in the church hall, otherwise on the grounds adjacent. During the evening sandwiches (frankfurter and Hamburg steak), ice cream, candy, soda water and other things will be on sale.

Nothing Venture

by Patricia Wentworth

CHAPTER I
 "If you won't help me, I'll help myself. If I have to pick her up off the streets!"

With those words in her ear, moving almost as if impelled by the idea that was forming within her, she rushed down the street, and, still without any sense of effort, she quickened her pace so as not to be left too far behind. She had no thought that it would be difficult to come to speech with him. She hoped that he was going home to the cool-looking house in East Seventieth street, which was one of the things that would pass from him to Edmund Carver if he did not marry within the time set by his grandfather's will.

Nan lifted her head. Whether the house was anything else that was his should pass to Edmund Carver. The current that was carrying her along was a current of protective love. Ten years ago she had saved him from drowning, and he had never known it. Now she was going to save him again. Edmund shouldn't rob him; neither should he rob himself.

She dreamed sometimes, even after ten years, of the rocky pool with the salt, cold water coming in on a flood tide. She felt his weight on her straining children's shoulders, and the sea flinging her against jagged rock. Then she would wake and touch the white scar on her arm and go over the whole adventure in her mind. Sometimes she wondered whether she would ever come across the little man who had come to their rescue—Ferdinand Francel. Such an extraordinary fellow.

Jervis Weare walked straight on, giving her enough to do to keep up with him. Nan became more and more certain that he was going home. She came up with him just as he was crossing into Seventieth street.

The sun struck hot on the dark rusty green of a little tree. The street was empty. She spoke his name as her foot touched the curb: "Mr. Weare."

He swung round, and she saw his face cut with pain. "What is it?"

The hot dark eyes held out the slightest recognition. She said, "Mr. Weare—I'm from Mr. Page's office." That was quite an easy thing to say. But could she dare do so?

(Copyright, 1932, Lippincott)
 Jervis turned an offending prospect, tomorrow.

"Mr. Jervis, you must give me time for consideration. There are other courses open to you. In the circumstances I have no doubt that the course would extend the time. There is also breach of promise."

"And make myself the laughing-stock of the whole country? I'd rather let her get away with it—and I'll see her in Tibet before I do that." His fist struck the table again.

"Mr. Jervis!"

"She's made a fool of me, and I'll make a fool of her. Who'll be the fool when she picks up The Times on the seventeenth, and sees that I'm married—On the 16th instant, at St. Bartholomew's, Park avenue, Mr. Jervis Weare to Miss Black Duck. And that, you see, is where you come in. You've got to sit in the blank and the dark."

At this point Nan became aware of the slow, heavy beating of her heart. It seemed to be knocking against her side. There came a drumming in her ears, so that she could not listen—and she must, must listen. She heard Mr. Page protest. And then, so loud that it came through the loud beating of her heart, Jervis Weare's voice:

"Rosendale. Aug. 25.—On Tuesday evening, August 23, Miss Doris Stadelmann entertained a number of her friends in honor of her birthday. An evening of games and dancing was enjoyed. Dainty refreshments were served. The young folks had a very enjoyable evening and all wished Doris many more happy birthdays."

Miss Miriam Swift of New York City is a guest of Mrs. C. DeWitt. Mr. and Mrs. C. DeWitt are entertaining a number of friends from out of town.

Mr. and Mrs. John Osterhout of Kingston and friends from New York City visited Mr. and Mrs. Eddy Lewis.

The Rev. and Mrs. Charles V. Bedford, pastor of the Rosendale Reformed Church, are spending a month's vacation up at their camp at Lake Canoga, N. Y. There will be services as usual in the Reformed Church. A visiting pastor will preach.

Church services will be held in the following churches on Sunday: All Saints Episcopal Church at 11 a. m. Rector, the Rev. Walter G. Gratton. Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. There will be a flower show at Zepel's Casino on September 2 and 3 under the auspices of All Saints Church.

Sunday school in the Baptist Church at 10:45 a. m. Superintendent, Miss Carrie Anderson.

Rosendale Reformed Church services at 11:15 a. m. Pastor, the Rev. Charles Bedford. Sunday school at 10:15 a. m.

An apparently unlimited supply of mammoth beef was placed in cold storage by nature at some prehistoric time when countless numbers of these great animals were killed in some unexplained way, and frozen in the ground of northern Asia. The mammoth, it is indicated by cave-men's drawings, lived about 10,000 years ago.

Native of Kamchatka centuries ago found that this ancient frozen meat was edible. They have used the mammoth for food and fuel for hundreds of years. Since the tenth century, mammoth ivory taken from the north country has been sold commercially.

Robert Hornby began his big league career with St. Louis in 1913, becoming manager there in 1925. He played with the New York Giants one year, 1927, and was acting manager of that team during the illness of John J. McGraw. The following year he was manager of the Boston Braves, and in 1930 became manager of the Chicago Cubs.

A $14 gold nugget in the crop of a chicken killed at the Lawrence Neesler home, Downville, Cal., hinted the possibility of gold in the north country has been sold

SAWKILL.

Sawkill, Aug. 25.—Mrs. Edward Phillips and daughter, Dorothy, and Marion of Bedford Park, Fordham, N. Y., are spending their vacation at The Happy Days Cottage.

Misses Kathryn and Mary Tyler of Jersey City are also staying at The Happy Days Cottage.

The Misses Mary and Catherine Kane and May Brett of Jersey City are spending their vacation at Mrs. Edward McCaffery's.

Mrs. Edna Bonsteel and daughters, Betty, Janet and Barbara of Bayonne are spending the season in Sawkill at their cottage. They have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. William Stetson and daughter, also Miss Agnes Noonan of Jersey City.

Mrs. William Reilly and family of Bay Ridge, Brooklyn, are at their cottage. Mr. Reilly has just returned after spending his vacation.

Mrs. James Hollis and children, June, Margaret and James, Jr., are at the Hollis cabin. Mr. Hollis joins them every week-end. Mrs. Harry Hollis of Yonkers is spending her vacation here.

Mr. and Mrs. Moey of Brooklyn, accompanied by sons Frank, James and John, also daughter Helen, are spending their vacation here.

Mr. and Mrs. William Walsh and daughter Evelyn are at their cottage for the season.

Miss Kay Callahan has just returned from a motor trip through the Catskills.

John Shortell and his fiancée spent their vacation at Mr. Shortell's mother's home.

A very successful dance was held Monday night at St. Ann's Hall for the benefit of the church. Miss Mary Noonan was chairman of the dance and everyone had a delightful time.

St. Ann's parishioners will have another dance September 3, the Saturday before Labor Day. Music will be furnished by a seven piece orchestra.

The Rev. William Dooley was the guest of his brother, the Rev. Andrew Dooley for the dance. Richard Haggerty and friends are expected in Sawkill Thursday.

Mrs. McCalligan and sons, Theodore and Francis, are spending their vacation in Sawkill.

Masters Edward Callahan and Joseph Duffy went on a fishing trip and were very successful.

Obverse of Coin.

"Obverse" means turned toward or facing one. It is opposed to reverse. The obverse of a coin or medal is the side containing the principal device. In other words, it is the front of the coin, the side meant to be displayed. It is a common mistake to suppose that "obverse" in this connection means the reverse or back side.

ONLY fresh GAS UNLEASHES FULL POWER

STALENESS steals the power of gasoline. Little by little the lighter parts—important “easy starting” elements—evaporate! Also a chemical change takes place—so that, as staleness increases, power decreases!

And the staler the gas, the more it knocks—and the stickier it is—more apt to foul a motor. The whole petroleum industry has long sought a way to stop gasoline deterioration. Now Gulf announces a system that assures every motorist of getting FRESH-MADE gasoline! Now.

By making the best possible gasoline and refining out certain complex elements that have been found to cause fast deterioration. And by rushing this FRESH gas to you like some perishable food!

• SPEED! The whole Galf organization is geared to it. Huge Galf refineries in many sections of the country put every Galf filling station close to a source of FRESH gasoline. A vast fleet of tank trucks spreads FRESH gas to Galf pumps every day.

Get FULL power for your gasoline motor. Get FRESH-MADE gas—delivered FRESH. Get Gulf exclusively—and you'll have a motor that's faster. A motor that's cleaner.
And quieter. Get a tank-full today!

TB Test of Cattle Going Forward

Tuberculin testing of New York state cattle is progressing rapidly, according to reports submitted to Commissioner Charles H. Baldwin of the Department of Agriculture and Markets. Cooperation on the part of the tuberculosis committees, the supervisors, and the cattle owners has made this progress in the control of bovine tuberculosis possible, the report states.

Out of a total of 140,000 herds of cattle in New York State 123,179 herds are operating under the accredited herd plan, and this number represents 1,433,613 cattle out of the 2,320,090 in the state. The number of herds accredited on August 1, was 77,767, representing $1,004,605 cattle. The number of cattle passing one clean test was 37,944.

During the year 1931, according to the report, 24,566 cattle were tuberculin tested one or more times. During the year 1931, 1,259,527 cattle were tuberculin tested one or more times, showing an increase of over 5,000 per cent. During the calendar year ending December 31, 1931, 8,450 herds were subjected to the initial tuberculin test, representing 121,795 cattle. From January 1, 1932 to August 1, 1932, a period of seven months, 8,052 herds were subjected to the initial test, the cattle in these herds numbering 121,702. This shows, the report states, that as much was done in the first seven months of 1932 in tuberculin testing of cattle as was done in all of last year.

Since 1923, according to the report, practically all initial testing has been done under the township plan, held to be the quickest, most thorough and economical manner of controlling and eradicating bovine tuberculosis. Up to the present time all cattle have been tuberculin tested one or more times, or testing is under way in 829 out of the 1,022 townships in the state, this being 89 per cent of the total number of townships. The report continues:

"The department show that a high per cent of the twenty-n counties are in the block of twenty-n counties making up the western part of the state and also in the group of counties along the eastern border of the state extending from county to the Canadian line. The untested territory remaining is located in a crescent-shaped area in the central part of the state, which includes many of the intensive dairy counties."

Southern Skies in September Offer Study Of Planet Saturn

By ROBERT H. BAKER.

(Professor of Astronomy, University of Minnesota.)

[Rochester, N. Y.]—Watchers of the evening skies will have a good opportunity to observe the ringed planet Saturn, which will be visible in the south throughout September.

At 9 p. m. on the first of the month this planet can be found directly above the south point, about a third of the way to the zenith.

To the unaided eye Saturn appears as a bright yellow star shining with a steady light even when the stars around it are twinkling noticeably.

The planet now is located near the western edge of the constellation Capricornus, whose stars outline roughly and dimly the figure of a sitting bird. It is not far east of the celebrated Milk Dipper.

Around the Sun in 30 Years.

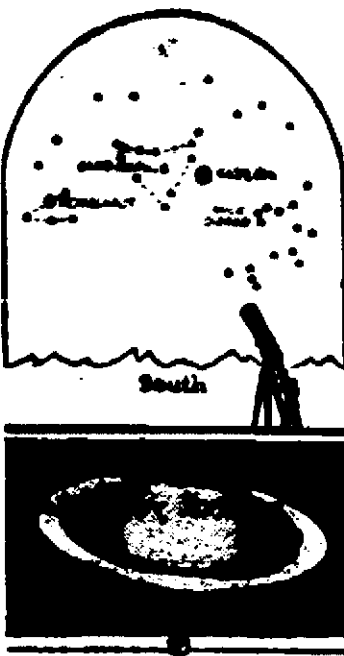

At the distance of 750 million miles Saturn is the most remote of the bright planets. Nearly 850 million miles from the sun, it requires 95 years to complete a single revolution around the sun, or a single circuit of the heavens in its eastward motion through the constellations.

Although it is ten times larger than the earth, the great planet is reduced in the distance to a mere shining point as we see it with the naked eye. It shines by reflected sunlight, for the planet is itself cold and dark like the earth.

Through the telescope Saturn ranks among the most remarkable showpieces of the heavens. The telescope magnifies the glowing point into a flattened yellow disk banded with clouds. It shows also that the globe of the planet is encircled by a system of flat concentric rings.

See Rings From the Side.

These rings are circular. They look elliptical because we see them from the side. Indeed, at intervals of 15 years we view them exactly edgewise. On these occasions the

The chart above shows the location of the ringed planet Saturn in the southern sky at 9 p. m. on early September evenings. The photograph shows Saturn as it appears when seen through a large telescope.

When Saturn is farthest south, as it was in 1929, the rings are opened to view so wide that the least diameter appears to be half the greatest diameter. Since 1929 the rings have moved north in its journey around the sun.

In 1936 the rings will become edgewise to us. Thereafter the other side of the rings will slowly open to view, until in 1942 the southern side of the rings will be opened as far as possible.

News of Today In Kingston

The American Legion Drum Corps left today for Brooklyn where it will enter into another competitive drill. In past conventions the legion has been among the first three mentioned.

It will be a gala day Friday in Brooklyn, with the big parade and gathering for the state convention. The wife of New York, as Brooklyn is called, will be quite the center of attraction. The number of drum corps that will appear is not known.

Last night we had roller skaters in town who intend to do the 48 states without falling. Can you imagine skating the 48 states?

They came down from Havana yesterday and must have burned up that concrete road. If all the roads were like that it wouldn't be bad. They cross deserts and it's hard to believe how they skate on mud. They left for Newburgh today. More concrete road to burn up.

The territory mapped out for the new golf course certainly is attractive. It has a lake on one side. If you don't play golf you could spend the afternoon looking at the countryside. It's most pleasing to the eye.

As for that lake, bathing suits will be in style for golfers who cut or slice the ball, but spending an afternoon on the bottom of a lake isn't so bad as long as you don't forget to come up.

Motorbus and Truck Collided Tuesday

The Catskill Mall of Wednesday said:

Passengers in a north-bound bus of the Cocksack & Albany Bus Co., Inc., which left Catskill at 3 p. m. Tuesday afternoon, had a narrow escape from injury when it was forced off the road near the Teedy gas station on the state highway south of Athens, by the driver of a truck, and crashed into a concrete post.

The truck said to be responsible for the accident, belonged to F. R. Matthews, Inc., grocers, of Kingston, and was driven by Leroy Van Eiten of Kingston.

Driver Runs Red Light.

Van Eiten, it was reported, ran the red light in the village of Athens and Chief of Police Charles W. Hitchcock, who was standing on the corner, ordered him to stop.

Instead of complying with the order, Van Eiten hurried on and Chief Hitchcock, commanding a car, started in pursuit. About three-quarters of a mile below Athens the chief overtook the truck, drove about 250 feet ahead and stopped.

He signaled Van Eiten to stop, but the latter, instead of complying, the officer charged, attempted to drive around the car occupied by the chief.

The bus was approaching from the south and Van Eiten's truck was directly in its path. In trying to avoid a collision the driver of the bus was forced to turn sharply off the road. The truck struck the bus which hit a post. Both vehicles were damaged considerably.

None Are Injured.

None of the passengers was injured, although shaken up by the impact. The truck was able to proceed on its way, after Chief Hitchcock had given the driver a ticket to appear before Justice Mackey in Athens tonight to answer charges of running the light and reckless driving.

Word of the accident was telephoned to the office of the bus company in Cocksack and shortly after another bus and Henry J. Albright, the proprietor of the line, appeared on the scene.

The passengers were transferred from the damaged bus and continued their interrupted trip. Later the damaged bus was towed to the company's garage in Cocksack.

McManus' Body Found in River

The Newburgh News of Wednesday states:

The body of George McManus, 42, of 178 Broadway, Kingston, was found two miles north of Ramapo's Beach before noon today. McManus drowned in the Hudson river Monday afternoon while swimming with his brother, Nicholas, and John Hoare.

The body was found by Ralph Sculler of Beacon and his cousin, Frank Tomlinson, of Roseton. They were walking along the shore when, 15 feet out, they saw the body floating. They fastened the body to a boat and rowed to the beach. There Toohy Brothers took charge of the body, pending advice from the family.

Released By Pica.

Nick and Henry were released from custody by Acting Recorder Coons this morning on their promise to leave Newburgh immediately. Tuesday they were remanded for sentence on charges of public intoxication and vagrancy.

The POWER-PROVER Returns to Kingston

The limited engagement of the Cities Service POWER PROVER left many automobilists without a test of their cars. We have arranged for a return of the POWER PROVER and its free use is extended to you at our Washington Avenue station—corner of Washington Avenue and North Front Street.

The Cities Service POWER-PROVER

The POWER PROVER is one of the most important services ever offered to automobile operators.

Cities Service Research Engineers strive constantly to improve the performance and economy of automobiles. They have developed the POWER PROVER after years of intensive laboratory and field work at a cost of many thousands of dollars.

Following the perfection of Cities Service gasolines and lubricants, the POWER PROVER is a crowning achievement.

Gasoline is exploded or burned in the automobile engine to generate power. Usually, the gasoline is not completely burnt and is carried out through the exhaust. The unburnt gasoline represents lost power, waste and dangerous fumes.

The Cities Service POWER PROVER is the first instrument to determine accurately and rapidly the amount of wasted fuel. By using this machine it is possible to correct this loss.

Determination of a motor's efficiency through the POWER PROVER is amazingly simple. A sample of exhaust gases from the car is drawn into the POWER PROVER which shows on a dial the amount of unburnt or wasted gasoline. The test requires less than two minutes. Then, a mechanic can proceed with the various adjustments of the motor—without guesswork. The results of adjusting ignition, timing and carburetion are recorded instantly on the POWER PROVER.

Prior to the POWER PROVER, fine adjustment, especially of multi-cylinder engines, was almost impossible because the car, alone, was the indicator. The ability of the POWER PROVER to improve motor performance and reduce the waste of gasoline and motor oil has been proven in thousands of tests throughout the country. The operators of the largest fleets of buses and trucks testify as to its worth. One company alone, by the systematic use of the POWER PROVER is saving 5000 gallons of gasoline each month.

The POWER PROVER is being made available to every motorist. Your car should be tested today. Consistent use of Cities Service gasolines and lubricants has always made for satisfactory and economical motor performance and with the POWER PROVER, the Satisfaction and the economy are greater than ever.

FASHIONS by ELEANOR GUNN

Danger! Soft Shoulders

Copyright, 1932, by Fairchild

Evening gowns and evening costumes which hint of fall are being made of very heavy materials and frequently, when they are white or a plain pale shade, they are accented by trimmings of vivid velvet. Eight-inch velvet ribbon as well as yard goods may be used for this purpose.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Strikingly patterned and colored effects are wanted for blouses and coats. Among these, an outstanding type introduces a chevron motif with gracefully curving and uneven edges, quite large and colorful.

Velvety woollens and an imported nubbed diagonal are sponsored as coat fabrics. The former are preferred for the furless models. Where fur actually trims the coat, the use of silver fox placed diagonally in strip fashion is especially effective.

Interesting things are done with capes that are detachable, shaped in original fashion, and fastening at the waistline. Occasionally the cape, in scarf fashion, is slipped over one arm and worn draped about the shoulders.

Black-with-Red Heads the Fashion Parade

New York—Fashion has taken up a new phase of the old game, rouge at noir. She's playing it furiously for fall and is either combining red and black or using red separately and black separately. More often she plays them as a combination.

Some of the red woollens are peppy in tone. They have the color of paprika or of red peppers. Others have looked on the wine when it was red and have become stained in its richness. No need to use any restraint on one's urge for red this autumn, especially as a detail on black or as a foundation for black details.

Another new shade is called "gris caviar," which seems fairly descriptive unless one's acquaintance with caviar has suffered because of the depression. The color is expensive looking and is one of the several attractive shades sponsored by Ardanne.

Those of us who have appreciated the privilege of wearing stripes are not to be deprived of them for fall. Not only stripes made by contrasting colors, but also materials so deeply ridged as to be striped in effect are being used. Helm created a favorable impression with a striking evening ensemble fashioned of blue-and-black striped dull velvet. At this same showing, a red-haired mannequin was stunningly costumed in wool collared with astrakhan exactly matched her hair. She carried a matching muff and was quite the talk of the premiere. Red-headed girls, please copy.

Another French house is sponsoring checks as well as stripes. Some of the checks are of the shepherd variety, but in navy and white instead of black and white.

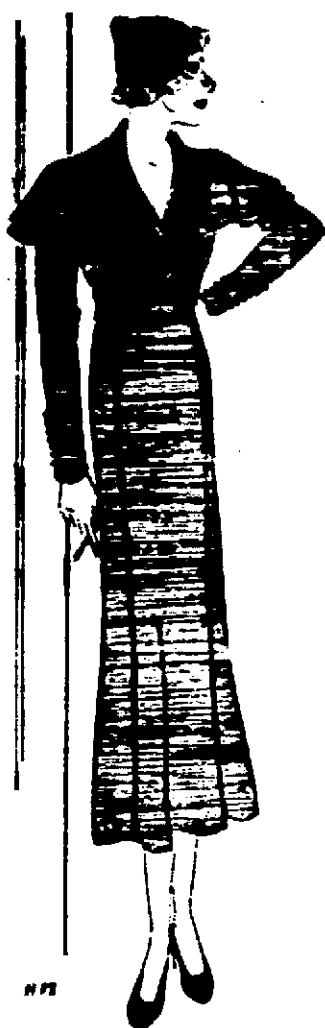

Furs for early fall are often flat, but nothing by way of fur is actually taboo this season. Smart-looking boleros and capelets of shaved lamb accompanied by muffs, by the way, being among the Victorian revivals. The capelet has endless interpretations, all of which have an excellent chance. The wider-shoulder movement is greatly helped by capelets. August showings have been playing up this silhouette, and include fur-topped coats, many of which have elaborated sleeves.

Harking Back to 1900

Paris—Gospy's collection emphasizes neat woollen dresses, often accompanied by coats of the same length.

There are many evening gowns which endorse a long straight silhouette reminiscent of 1900, with ruffles bordering the skirt, the waistline narrow, the corsage draped and the shoulders covered by ruffles or puffs. For the majority of these, spotted nets, sheer laces and novelty laces like dull quipures that are partly wire or threaded metal, are adopted.

A POSTILION SUGGESTION

Copyright, 1932, by Fairchild

The dress illustrated, of bright red finely ribbed woolen, adopts the double caplet of postilion suggestion. Its modeled line is broken by a strip of black galyak, which is detachable and fits snugly about the neck, forming collar and fronts and defining the waistline in jacket formation.

houette reminiscent of 1900, with ruffles bordering the skirt, the waistline narrow, the corsage draped and the shoulders covered by ruffles or puffs. For the majority of these, spotted nets, sheer laces and novelty laces like dull quipures that are partly wire or threaded metal, are adopted.

OUR DAILY PATTERN

A Simple Frock For a Little Miss
7610. This trim little model is cool and comfortable. It will be nice in linen or lawn, with trimming of gingham or percale. Pique or pongee is also suggested likewise dotted swiss with the tabs of orkandy and edged with tiny frills of "val" lace.

Designed in 4 sizes: 2, 4, 6 and 8 years. Size 4 will require 1 1/2 yard of 35 inch material. The tabs will require 1/4 yard of contrasting material. To finish with bias binding as in the large view will require 2 yards 1 1/2 inch wide.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 1c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Know What They Want

Plato, being asked why it was that philosophers sought the society of the rich much more than the latter sought theirs, replied: "Because philosophers know what they want, but the rich do not."

Raphael's Reply to Critics

While Raphael was engaged in painting his celebrated frescoes, he was visited by two cardinals who began to criticize his work and found fault without understanding it. "The apostle Paul has too red a face," said one. "He blushes to see into whose hands the church has fallen," said the indignant artist.—Kansas City Times.

Colonial Footwear

"Although the Colonial ladies knew about 'high-heeled French shoes' and liked to wear them, the ladies of the days of 1800 and on down to 1899 looked somewhat askance at shoes with heels higher than an inch and a half. Many of the most fashionably made women's shoes in that period were minus heels.

COMING EVENTS ON THE RADIO

In response to thousands of requests for the songs that he popularized as a featured star of the famous Broadway musical comedy, "The Great Gatsby Show," Walter Hackett, plot of the Magic Carpet, will give his own inimitable interpretation of "The Magic in the Firing Traps" as one of the highlights of the Lucky Strike House to be broadcast this evening. Wayne King and his orchestra playing in New York and Hal Kemp and his orchestra playing in Chicago will also be heard on this program which begins at 10 p. m. over WEAF and a nationwide NBC network.

"The Legend of Sleepy Hollow," adapted from the famous story of that name by Washington Irving, will be repeated by the Sororland Players when they are heard over the air from Station WGY at 8 p. m., Monday, August 29. The play opens with a visit of that well-known tactician, Ichabod Crane, to Katrina Van Tassel. Ichabod is filled with stories of the headless horseman who has been seen riding on dark nights about the countryside near Sleepy Hollow. In fact he is so engrossed with stories of the horseman's escapades that he scarcely notices the rumors handed him by Katrina's father, old Baltus Van Tassel. He accepts, however, an invitation to the Van Tassel's harvest dance despite warnings from his rival Brom Van Tassel to stay away from the fair Katrina. He dismisses school early, dons his best, and sets out for the ball. There, during the evening while Ichabod eats his fill of pumpkin pie, broiled shad and roasted chicken with more than an occasional glass of elder to wash it down, a plot is launched by Baltus and Brom. Follows a scene in which Ichabod presses his suit only to be turned down by Katrina and he rides into the night, depressed and saddened and filled with fear of the horseman. The fact that the horseman rode forth also that night and that Ichabod was never again seen at Sleepy Hollow is history.

Early "Trinitaries"
Precious to the Revolutionary war there were 100 printing establishments in the country, mostly in coast towns.

Butcher Cuts His Two Fingers.

Pine Hill, Aug. 23.—John M. Smith, local butcher, had the misfortune of severely cutting two fingers on his right hand, Tuesday morning. The accident occurred when he was coming from the cooler with a large piece of meat in one hand and a sharp knife in the other. The point of the blade caught in the casing of the door causing his hand to slide from the handle and along the edge of the knife thereby causing the injury. William Mincer is assisting in the market since the accident.

Where Manna Fell

A fall of "manna" from a cloudless sky is reported from a farm in Vryheid, South Africa. Native reported that the ground was covered with a white, snow-like substance, which tasted like honey. In appearance it resembled popcorn, powdered easily, and melted upon the tongue. Specimens were preserved and sent to Durban for a scientific investigation.

Financial And Commercial

New York, Aug. 25 (AP).—The bull movement in stocks received a slight check from the wheat market today. Stocks were steady in heavy buying at the start, turned somewhat bearish, but rallied up again. After a brief decline, some of the leaders, however, were held in check by rather persistent selling whenever they turned upward. This was particularly true of American Telephone.

Easterns show 7 points, against 10 in a demonstration against stocks, then lost some of its rise. Case rose more than 5, and International Business Machines nearly as much.

Issues up around 2 to 3 points in the United States Steel preferred, National Steel, Allied Chemical, Johns-Manville, Lambert-Sawyer, Associated Dry Goods, International Harvester, American Can, Union Pacific, Norfolk and Western, and others. Gains of a point or more appeared throughout the list. There was some recession in a moderate wave of selling in the early afternoon.

The strength of wheat was a particularly welcome development in Wall Street, for the somewhat soggy tendency in that market had tended to dampen bullish enthusiasm in the securities markets from time to time during the past few weeks.

Bullish quarters were impressed with further scattered indications of seasonal pickup in business, particularly improvement in sales of office equipment.

Buying of farm implement, mail order, and chain store stocks, was again based on gains in wheat and cotton. Ralco, bought in some volume, particularly Canadian Pacific. The buying of coppers dried somewhat. Oils were fairly active, but made moderate progress. Utilities were inclined to lag during most of the day.

Bradstreet's compilation of bank clearings for the week ended yesterday was disappointing, falling to indicate any general commercial pickup. Clearings outside of New York city declined nearly 10 percent or somewhat more than the usual decline for the period, to a new low for the year.

RICHES OF ANCIENT ANTIOCH REVEALED

Explorers Are Busy in Once Gay Capital of Syria.

Washington, Antioch, which has yielded many rich treasures of antiquity, again is the scene of explorations which recently uncovered a picture gallery in the form of a jumbled mosaic.

Modern Antioch, a drab city of 30,000 inhabitants lying about 15 miles up the Euphrates river from the Mediterranean, is a mere shadow of the gay city that once was the capital of the great empire of Seleucus Nicator, favorite of Alexander the Great, and later capital of the Roman empire in the Orient. It was a bulletin from the National Geographic society.

"Traditionally, Antioch owes its location to the flight of an eagle. Antioch, built in 300 B. C., a few miles north of Antioch, was planned to be the fountainhead of government, commerce and industry in the Near East. While Seleucus was offering sacrifices at an altar in the city, an eagle swooped down, caught a piece of meat from the altar, and flew to the banks of the Orontes river. Seleucus interpreted the eagle's act as an omen that the gods wished him to found a capital on the river.

"The outstanding feature of the new city was the four-mile main street that connected the east and west gates. On each side rose double rows of lofty marble columns between which Ben Hur drove his chariot and Caesar paraded in triumph. Flanking the street was a marble-paved, covered promenade adorned with statues and carvings in marble and bronze. Beyond the promenade rose the handsome facades of government buildings.

"At night the main street was a great white way. Despite its gaiety, however, Antioch's path was often strewn with sorrow. Its walls were frequently pounded by jealous enemies. While the columned highways, walls, gates and handsome buildings are memories, a large part of the modern city is built of the stones that once witnessed the processions and chariot races of 'Antioch the Glorious.'

"Antioch has been succeeded commercially by Aleppo. Today its largest industries are shoe and soap making and hide tanning."

Auto Drivers Can Save Game by Flicking Lights

Washington.—The motorists who run down a wild animal or bird on the highway may not realize that he is helping, probably without deliberate intention, to swell one of the most impressive death lists in the lives of small game creatures, declares a bulletin of the American Game association.

With game commissions and sportsmen striving in numerous ways to save and restore wild game for its tremendous recreational and economic value, many states have launched educational campaigns during the tourist season to reduce game mortality due to thoughtless driving.

Most of the animals are killed at night. Lights blind them. Flicking the lights to dim or slowing down will save them, and in the case of larger creatures, such as deer, may also save the drivers from a dangerous crash.

Aged Man Trades House for Perpetual Income

Newark, N. J.—When George von Ert was seventy he had a three-family house but no income. So he traded his home for a life income of $1 a day, a meal a day, the privilege of living in a small building in the rear, and the promise of a decent burial.

His $1 a day went for magazines and knick-knacks. Now the Bridgman family, who got the house, has kept the final clause of the contract—they have given the old man a decent burial.

von Ert upset a kerosene lamp and burned to death.

Office Workers Given Five Hours for Lunch

Rome.—Five hours for lunch is the rule for most office workers in Rome during the summer months. The various government bureaus and a great number of private offices and stores operate on the summer schedule. The working day begins at eight in the morning. At noon everybody will go out to lunch and not return until five o'clock in the afternoon. They will then work from five until nine. The intense heat of early afternoon is the reason for the schedule.

Dance in Lion's Den Obeys Dying Wish

London.—To carry out his father's dying wish, sixteen-year-old Rose purchased a lion in a cage with the lioness that caused her parent's death. The father, Capt. Thomas Purchase, a lion tamer, died in a Manchester hospital after the lioness had mauled him. "I am going on with my dancing, for it was my father's wish," said Rose just before a performance. "I promised father as he was being taken away to the hospital that I would not desert the show. There have been generations of fair ground and circus people before my father who bore his name, and I and my young brothers mean to carry on the tradition."

World's Offer to Men

Figuring the world owes you a living, and that all you must do is collect, is looking at life through the wrong end of the glass. The world owes nothing to any man. It offers him opportunity, and in exchange demands the best efforts as the price of success.—Ort.

POULTRY FACTS

NO GREAT PROFIT IN RAISING CAPONS

Inadvisable to Rear Chicks for Meat Alone.

Claims for rapid and great increase in weight after caponing cockerels are disputed by experiment stations that have investigated them. A bulletin from the Cornell experiment station quotes the Maryland State College of Agriculture as having found that the rate of growth of cockerels and capons compared very closely up to the time of the maturity of the cockerels, the cockerels being slightly more efficient in the use of food. After maturity was reached, this relation was reversed, the capons becoming slightly more efficient. The same results were obtained at Cornell. The Illinois station found that up to 40 weeks there was little difference in the growing of capons and cockerels.

The Cornell statement with regard to this continues with the cautionary paragraph: "Apparently the extravagant claims have not been founded upon facts. . . . Under most New York state conditions it is not advisable to attempt to raise capons for the New York wholesale market. . . . However, in localities where a special trade can be built up and premium prices obtained it may be profitable to produce them. . . . A plump, juicy capon cannot be excelled by any poultry for fine table quality, and doubtless many poultrymen continue to produce them primarily for home use."

This seems to correspond with the opinions of numerous poultry keepers who have tried producing capons for the wholesale markets and have found that feed costs have been too great to permit any great profit in the raising of fowls for meat alone.—Rural New-Yorker.

Vitamins That Affect Food Value of the Egg

Eggs from chickens fed a ration full of vitamins A and D are better food than eggs from chickens fed rations less rich in these vitamins.

Recent experiments in Ohio indicate that the amount of vitamin A and D supplied to the bird is directly reflected in the vitamin content of the eggs produced. Thus, in feeding his hens to maintain their health, the poultryman is feeding for eggs of better quality and more worth.

A ration for hens rich in vitamins would contain yellow corn, alfalfa leaf meal, or a high grade cod liver oil. Vitamin D prevents rickets and assists with the building of bone. Vitamin A builds resistance to diseases and infections.—Dakota Farmer.

Poultry Outlook

The summary of the program for poultry as outlined in the "Agricultural Outlook for 1932," and published by Iowa State college, is, in our judgment, sound advice.

"Most farmers with general flocks adapted to both meat and egg production might well hold their production plans to about the same volume as last year and put further emphasis on proper feeding, careful stock management and selling on a graded basis. Graded selling of eggs becomes increasingly important with the marked expansion in the competition between frozen eggs and the lower grades of cold storage eggs."—Wallace's Farmer.

Separate Ducks and Hens

Ducks, chickens and turkeys have quite different habits and requirements; therefore they should be kept separate in order to be profitable and healthy. If ducks and chickens are confined to the same run it will soon be found that the webbed feet of the ducks treading on the droppings will make the run very unsanitary for the fowls, and any contagious disease breaking out would be quickly communicated to the entire flock.

Turkeys must be provided with space for exercise, and fresh air and should be kept in a fairly cold, dry atmosphere.

Moist Ration Best

Mixing a part of the dry mash with milk until it is moistened to a crumbly state greatly increases the palatability of the poultry ration. Experiments with flocks of the same breed kept under exactly the same conditions and fed the same rations, except that a part of the ration was fed wet in one case and in the other case all of it was dry, showed an increase in production during the year of 24 eggs per bird, a matter no poultry raiser can afford to overlook.

When to Start Culling

Culling should begin when the eggs are selected for incubation and continue until the birds are disposed of. A University of Minnesota bulletin points out. Only strong, vigorous, healthy chicks should be placed in the brooding pens. Poultry put into winter quarters should be carefully selected as to factors bearing on their usefulness, and throughout the laying year, hens that developed physical weakness, or are late, or irregular, producers should be removed.

Calling Out National Guard

The governor of the state is the only one who has the authority to call out the National Guard. National guard units often voluntarily offer to walk in parades and such public demonstrations, but they cannot be commanded to do so except by the governor.

Delaney Testifies in Walker Hearing

Executive Chamber, Albany, N. Y., Aug. 25 (AP).—John H. Delaney, chairman of the New York city board of transportation, testifying for Mayor Walker at the latter's hearing, and the Equitable Coach Company bid for a bus franchise was the last to be heard.

Samuel Seabury, counsel to the Hofstadter Legislative Committee, advised Governor Roosevelt when he submitted his 15 conclusions that the Equitable was "not fit or qualified" to receive a franchise. He held it received the right to operate buses because Mayor Walker used his influence for the company with which his friend, State Senator John A. Hastings was connected.

The board of transportation reported favorably on the company and the City Board of Estimates and Apportionment granted the franchise. The mayor is a member of the latter board.

The hearing before Governor Roosevelt became "three days" proceeding today, with morning, afternoon and evening sessions. It has continued ten days.

Society Notes

Murphy's Case.

Announcements were received in this city today, of the marriage of Miss Edith M. W. Case, daughter of the late John Manchester Case and Mattie A. Case Tobey, to James J. Murphy, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Murphy at St. Joseph Rectory, by the Rev. Edmund Burke on Thursday, August 25th, 1932.

May Ride Enjoyed

An old fashioned hay ride was held from Woodland Farm, situated on the Nelson Farm on the Whiteport-Hurley road, Saturday night, leaving that point and going as far as Saugerties. On their return a buffet luncheon and dancing were enjoyed. All arrangements were made by Mrs. Horace S. Timmer. Friends from New York, Jersey City, Whiteport and Kingston, who enjoyed the rare treat were, Sue and Charlotte Kloss, Mildred Cooper, Elsie Huber, Vera Osterio, Doris Skow, Joan Murphy, Barbara Phillips, Catherine Chaplain, Josephine, Helen, Ida and Catherine Nelson, Mrs. Ethel Helwig, Irving Sch., Jack Burgher, Dennis Murphy, Jacob and William Henze, Harry Olson, John Falcy, Edward Von Helgen, Werner Goeiler, William Tracy, George Sutz, Edward Foggy, Edward Malone, William Shollenberger, Lee, Ernest, Menz Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Eldridge, Mrs. Horace S. Timmer, Mr. and Mrs. David I. Flaherty. Woodland Farm has been the scene of many jolly gatherings and Mrs. Timmer's friends wish her every success in her new undertaking. All left declaring her a delightful hostess and looking forward to another affair.

Mrs. Clarence Voss Wins in First Round of Golf

Most of the favorites survived play in the first round of the Northeast New York women's golf tournament at Schuylers Meadows Wednesday. Among those who came through the first round was Mrs. Clarence Voss, wife of Supervisor Clarence Voss of Phoenixia, who played under the Rip Van Winkle Club colors. Mrs. Voss came through with a comparatively easy victory, defeating Miss Margaret Weatherhead, Schuylers Meadows, 6 and 5. Mrs. Voss qualified with a 47 and 42 score for the first and second round making a total of 89 for the eighteen holes. Miss Lord was first with an 85; Miss Parker was second with an 86 and Mrs. Voss came third with a total of 89.

The second round of the match got under way this morning with Mrs. Voss pitting off with Miss Elbertson of Oneonta at 10:10 o'clock.

Macbray Arrested

Winthrop, Mass., Aug. 25 (AP).—John A. Macbray, prominent in religious and educational circles in western Canada, chairman of the board of governors of the University of Manitoba, was arrested today on a charge of misappropriating $47,451 of the university's funds.

John Hardisty Leads

Bartlesville, Okla., Aug. 25 (AP).—John Hardisty of Los Angeles led the west wing of the transcontinental air derby out of Bartlesville today, taking the air at 8:15 a. m. for Jefferson City, Mo., 244 miles away.

Broad May Be Claimed

Oldest of Human Foods

In the ages since history was first written we have heard about bread from every country in the world. Egyptian statues made 6,500 years ago show slaves up to their elbows in dough, or dancing upon it barefooted. Persian housewives plastered their dough on the outside of a clay (now a sheet iron) oven surrounding a charcoal burner, and baked it pancake fashion. In parts of Brazil the natives still pound out their grain with clubs that look for all the world like policemen's clubs.

For centuries only dark bread—much of it very heavy and coarse like the heavy four-pound loaves from the Black Forest of Germany—was known by the people. Then one day a capricious English earl planned a banquet with a white color scheme and ordered his cook to give him white bread. How the cook managed to sift out all the chaff and save his head is a mystery, but he did, and the innovation was a huge success.

For a long time white bread apparently was confined to the use of the church, where it was made in the convents and monasteries and offered in the service. Then gradually the so-called 'bread' was sold to the nobility, and so wealth developed, baking was removed from the convents and taken up by the laity.

Gardiner Winners in Kitchens Contest

"Less time in the kitchen, more time for home and community jobs" seems to be the slogan in the Gardiner contest. Four ladies from that community captured prizes offered by Kingston local merchants in the improved and completed kitchen contests conducted by the Ulster County Home Bureau this year. Mrs. Raymond DuBois, whose kitchen is practically completed with all modern electrical equipment, entered the completed kitchen contest and is winner of first prize, offered by Rose and Gorman, through Major Ashton Hart, manager of the Home Appliance Department, of any electrical appliance up to $5 in value, or $10 credit toward any major electrical appliance they carry.

Mrs. Stanley Gray, whose "dream" kitchen is yet to be realized, is winner of first place in the improved kitchen contest and she will be recipient at the Rose-Gorman store of any electrical appliance up to $5 in value, or $10 credit toward a major electrical appliance or gas range.

Plans for her ideal kitchen scored second and made Mrs. Ethel Rosecrans winner for second place and she is being rewarded by Harder's electrical store, which is offering $5 credit toward any piece of electrical equipment they carry.

It took much thought and planning for Mrs. Esther Horcherding to take an old fashioned large kitchen (with Dutch oven 'n' everything) and make of it the type of kitchen that modern ladies wish to grace with pride, but in so doing she was a strong runner up and came out third in the contest. And she is being rewarded for her efforts by Harza's hardware store, which is offering a lovely piece of aluminum ware to help her carry out her plans.

The letters of Mrs. Raymond DuBois and Mrs. Stanley Gray have been sent to the state contest, where they compete for the state prize, offered by the State Federation of Home Bureaus. The State Federation inaugurated the scheme of having a better kitchen contest, believing that in this way interest would be aroused in having better kitchens in rural homes and thus free the homemaker's time for the more worthwhile things of life and lift from her shoulders the drudgery that inefficiency in the kitchen often thrusts upon her. The Gardiner Home Bureau has been awake to the advantages of this contest and in previous years has brought honors to the county through winning the state contest. Mrs. Leslie Leach and Mrs. David DuBois have both been state winners. It is hoped that the Gardiner ladies now in the contest will reap further laurels upon the county.

Mrs. Putnam Ends Cross-Country Trip

Newark, N. J., Aug. 26 (AP).—Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam headed a Newark Airport at 10:28 a. m. East on Standard Time today, completing the first transcontinental non-stop flight made by a woman.

Mrs. Putnam dropped her Lockheed Vega monoplane in a perfect three point landing, and was greeted by Lieut. Richard Aldworth, airport manager. The crimson and gold plane came over the airport from the West and after circling once around the field, landed came down to land.

Mrs. Putnam, looking tired but happy, could be seen smiling in the ship.

The unofficial time for her flight was 19 hours and two minutes. The West-East non-stop record for men is held by Frank Hawks at 17 hours 21 minutes and 53 seconds.

Mrs. Putnam who left Los Angeles yesterday at 12:30 p. m. Pacific standard time, was unlighted on her flight since she passed over Amarillo, Texas, at 11:10 p. m. eastern standard time, last night. At that time, she had flown only 1,091 miles, averaging about 125 miles an hour. The last 2,000 miles she must have made at a speed exceeding 151 miles an hour.

Although she had been expected to fly the regular air route, passing over Columbus, Ohio, she was unopposed until the moment of her landing, the U. S. Weather Bureau telegraph at Newark airport was carrying a report a plane believed to have been Mrs. Putnam's, had been sighted over Indianapolis at 8:30 a. m. eastern standard time.

Mrs. McCormick Rallies Again

Chicago, Aug. 25 (AP).—Another amazing rally brought Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick back from the brink of death today.

At dawn her family had been called to the bedside, expecting an end momentarily of the long illness that is certain to be fatal. Stimulants were administered, however, and Mrs. McCormick's heart and pulse became stronger. Her children then retired to their adjoining apartments in the Drake Hotel.

Encouraged a little by her astonishing ability to rally, Mrs. McCormick's physicians emphasized nevertheless that she could not survive long.

Voelker's Pitching Gives Butchers Win Over Neckwear, 9-4

With Jim Voelker doing a neat job at relief pitching and his teammates pouncing Stanley Colvin's offerings for 13 solid blows the Forst Butchers had an easy time disposing of the Northern Neckwear at the Athletic Field Wednesday evening. The score was 9 to 4 and for the second night in a row only four innings were played. The fifth inning was started, but it became too dark to finish it.

Tommy Davitt, with a home run of the Duke variety, a double and a single out of three trips to the plate, led the attack on Colvin, driving in five runs. Each one of the Butchers save Tierney poked at least one safety. Davitt's home run probably would have been caught by Chet Krom if the fans hadn't interfered.

Charlie Tiano started on the mound for the Butchers, but failed to finish. He was too liberal with his walks and retired in favor of Voelker in the second inning. Voelker had full control of the situation at all times, allowing only two hits. Tiano was nicked for one during his brief stay.

The Cravats started the scoring in the first inning, chasing three runners across the plate. Turk, Krom and Fuchs received free transportation to first base and scored when Didzik doubled to left field.

Davitt's home run with the bases loaded erased the lead in the second inning. It came after Thomas singled. Messing doubled and Tierney walked.

The Butchers put the game beyond all doubt in the fourth inning by staging a five-run rally. Singles by Davitt, Dawkins, Voelker, Spiegel, Thomas and Messing, climaxed by a double by Tiano accounted for the runs. An error by Glaser paved the way for the Cravats' final run in their half of the fourth.

Colonials Meet Pan-Ams in Third Series Game Friday

For the third time this season the Kingston Colonials and the Pan Ams will meet this Friday at the Athletic Field at 6:15 o'clock. This will be the third and last game of their three game series and Manager Herbie Myers of the Colonials is in hopes of taking one of the three by winning Friday.

The Colonials will have the same lineup that was used against the oilmen Sunday. The pitching isn't definitely settled as yet. Herbie said this morning that either Dewey VanBuren or Dick Williams would do the honors on the mound.

As for the Pan Ams they continue with the same group of ball players. From the beginning of the season they've used the same lineup and have had outstanding success for a team of young boys playing their first year together. Some of the best ball clubs in this section have been taken over by the Pan Ams.

A large crowd is expected to witness the game which might possibly turn out to be the Colonials fourth defeat in two weeks. On the other hand the oilmen have not lost a game in some time.

BLACK PETE'S ALL STARS DEFEATED RIENZOS, 6-5

Tuesday night at Hushbrouck Park Black Pete's All Stars trimmed the Rienzo team 6-5. E. Rock and Schumler made the battery for the Rienzos and Spitzer and Sass for the winners.

Leaders Win

The Leaders defeated the Royal Jrs. at St. Mary's Field by a 16-7 score. J. Brooks and Meyers made up the battery for the winners, while Sleight, Swarthout and Robinson did the battery work for the Royal Jrs.

Graduate To Major Links War

Learning about middle affairs as well as calculus in college the group above are set to give the "gray heads" plenty of trouble in the National amateur tourney beginning September 12 near Baltimore. They are: Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, intercollegiate champion; Don Moe of Portland, Ore.; Billy Howell of Richmond, Va., and Sidney Noyes, Yale star.

SPORT SLANTS

By Alan J. Gould

(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

The half baron of Belgium, Dr. Baillet-Latour, president of the international Olympic committee, manifested his keen discernment of the amateur-professional problem in athletics when he put forward the suggestion that there be a friendly mingling of the two on a basis plain and aboveboard, doing away with suspicion and rancor. Indirectly he advocated a solution that corresponds in a way with the fashion that prevails in golf.

When a golfer decides to capitalize his fame or knowledge or connections, question seldom rises as to his status. As in the case of notables like Jones, Von Elm and Perkins within the past year or two, no subterfuge is involved.

These gentlemen of the royal and ancient game forsake amateur rank without any occasion or tendency to raise hands in horror. It being their own business, they made their own decisions and, so far as Von Elm and Perkins are concerned, found all the competitive outlet they desired in open tournaments.

Out In The Open

But what of the amateur runner, if he happens to find and seize the chance to make something of his skill?

If the proof seems strong enough, as in Nurm's case, he is promptly cast out and in effect stigmatized, no matter what the contingent circumstances may be or the influence of organizations which conduct semi-professional activities under the cloak of amateurism.

The question of Nurm's guilt or innocence is aside from the point that if there is to be a house-cleaning in athletic ranks, it should start on the ground floor and work up through the attic, rather than concentrate on one conspicuous member of the household.

At the same time it would be well, as Dr. Baillet-Latour suggests, to come out in the open with any and all of the proceedings, frankly consider the widespread problem of semi-professionalism, and encourage a new deal.

If an amateur knows that he may turn "pro" and still be welcomed to competitive fields, he will be less inclined to attempt deception. If his status is clear, one way or the other, then the main problem vanishes and artificial barriers are automatically removed.

Rules Get O. K.

Football coaches, having held mid-summer clinics on new rules and their affairs in general, have gone back home satisfied that the changes in the intercollegiate code will be for the best interests of the sport this fall.

Many were inclined at first to feel the national rules committee had yielded to public pressure too much in throwing up additional safeguards.

Coaches naturally resent official "tinkering" with the game, but they have found that none of the essential "red-blooded" character of the sport, or its opportunities for showmanship or effective strategy, has been removed by the new regulations, especially the provisions covering tackling, blocking, use of hands and "piling on."

MODERN IRAQ

Fire Wood is Scarce in Iraq.

Prepared by National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C. The Iraq, where American explorers recently discovered a complete human township, dating from the early fourth millennium, is the modern name for the traditional Garden of Eden, historically known as Mesopotamia. Many historians hold that somewhere in Iraq—in the valley of the Tigris and Euphrates rivers—is to be found the cradle of civilization.

Upon the breaking up of the Turkish empire following the World War Mesopotamia became a British mandate which was erected into the Arab Kingdom of Iraq with a Mohammedan prince from Mecca upon the throne. Such is the latest form assumed by the Phoenix among nations. In the last six thousand years Babylonian, Assyrian, Chaldean, Persian, Greek, Roman and Saracen civilizations have flourished in Mesopotamia, each rising from the ashes of its predecessor.

The great irrigation works which, throughout the centuries, had kept the Tigris-Euphrates valley green, rich and flourishing were destroyed by invading Mongols and allowed to decay by heedless Turks. The Garden of Eden became a treeless desert, except for a few date palms along the river banks. Cities like Baghdad and Basra fell into decay and seemed fast approaching the fate which had overtaken Ur and Babylon, where jackals howl above a lonely waste.

Then followed a rebirth during the throes of the great war. Once more boats crowded the swift and treacherous reaches of the Tigris. Once more the bazaars of Baghdad and Basra and Mosul hummed with world traffic. Marauding desert robber tribes were kept in perpetual peace by airplanes humming over their remote villages. Sanitary regulations and electric lighting made town and country both more safe and more healthful. Ice factories and soda water establishments helped alleviate summer days of 120 degrees in the shade. Levees were built to keep the flooding rivers within their banks and slowly but by bit work was begun on repairing irrigation works and building railroads. Thus was modern Iraq born.

The new kingdom under British mandate embraces the valley of the Tigris-Euphrates between the Arabian desert on one side and the Persian uplands on the other. To the northwest lies the French mandate of Syria and to the north the Kurdish highlands of Turkey. Southward stretches the Persian gulf, the country's salt water outlet to the wide world. Within this strip of territory are barely 3,000,000 people where once flourished a population denser than that of modern Belgium.

What Baghdad is Like
There are three principal cities: Mosul, of old fame, is in the north; Baghdad, the capital in the central part; and the important port of Basra in the south. Of the three Baghdad perhaps is most famous.

From the deck of a Tigris steamer Baghdad looms up boldly, its splendid skyline of domes and minarets reminding one of some "Midway" of World's fair memory. An odd pontoon bridge connects the two parts of the city, separated by the yellow Tigris. On the west bank is the old town, inclosed by date and orange groves. From here the Baghdad-Mosul railway starts on its long run across the trackless desert. East of the river, on the Persian side, is "new" Baghdad, with its government offices, barracks, consulates, prisons, etc.

Beyond, as far as the eye can reach in every direction, stretches the vast, flat, treeless empty plain of Mesopotamia—a region once more populous than Belgium.

The traveler is paddled ashore from the steamer in a "goafah," a queer, crocodile-like craft in use here since Noah's day. A goafah is woven from willows about six feet in diameter, is circular and basket-shaped, and is coated outside with bitumen. Some say it was cut adrift in one of these goafahs.

Old City Mostly in Ruins
Another strange craft at Baghdad is the "kelik," a Kurdish invention. The kelik is a raft made of inflated goatskins, held together by poles and covered with a platform of straw mats.

These keliks come down to Baghdad in hundreds from Mosul, bringing wool, poultry, grain and skins.

The present custom house at Baghdad is a wing of the old palace of Harun-al-Rashid, yards of swirling Arabic characters, cut in marble panels, still adorn its historic walls.

Baghdad arteries of traffic are mere alleys, often so narrow that two donkeys cannot pass. Once Turkish soldiers tried to move artillery through Baghdad. The streets were so narrow the horses had to be unhitched, and men moved the guns about by hand.

ST. LAWRENCE TAKES ON NEW IMPORTANCE

Treaty Directs Attention to Great River System.

Washington.—The St. Lawrence river, Canada's natural highway to the West, takes on new importance since the recent signing of the waterway treaty between the United States and Canada.

"With its five fresh water inland seas the St. Lawrence forms one of the great river systems of the world," says a bulletin from the National Geographical society. "While its basin is third in size among North American rivers, being exceeded by those of the Mississippi and the Mackenzie, the St. Lawrence drains in all some 250,000 square miles, an area nearly equal to that of the Republic of Peru."

"The name 'St. Lawrence,' however, applies only to the lower third of the 2,100 mile river system. Actually the stream rises at the source of the St. Louis river, near the headwaters of the Mississippi, in Minnesota, flows into Lake Superior, through the other Great Lakes, and empties into the Gulf of St. Lawrence at Cape Gaspé, Quebec. But technically the 'St. Lawrence' is that part of the main stream which flows from Kingston, at the mouth of Lake Ontario, to Cape Gaspé, 770 miles in length.

Unique Among Rivers.

"In several ways the St. Lawrence is unique among large rivers of the world. Easy going, it does not dig up much silt, and therefore has no alluvial delta at its mouth. Its banks are clear and sharp to the ocean's rim, and the channel at its mouth is deep enough to clear the largest ships afloat.

"The St. Lawrence, in fact, may be said to lead a very well-balanced life. Five months during the year it works diligently as Canada's chief artery of commerce. Then for seven months it rests, all but the lower 400 miles being closed by ice. Floods are almost unknown along the St. Lawrence. The Great Lakes act as impounding, regulating reservoirs, and its own occasional lakelike expenses take up the excesses of its lower tributaries. The dikes at Montreal and needed only during the spring and fall when infrequent ice jams cause the river to overflow its normal banks.

"The St. Lawrence, in its lower reaches, is a tidal river, like the Hudson, but oddly enough its highest tides are at Orleans Island, 650 miles from the open ocean at Cabot strait. At its mouth the range is only six feet, but at Orleans Island, below Quebec, the spread is 19 feet. Quebec has 15 1/2 feet of tide, although the water there is almost fresh.

"One of the widest of rivers, the St. Lawrence below Quebec is more like a broad bay or long lake. The stranger approaching from Europe must sail some distance up the St. Lawrence before he realizes that he is in a river at all. At Point des Monts both banks become visible for the first time, yet the river here is 40 miles across and very deep. At its mouth the St. Lawrence is more than twice as wide. Even at Saguenay, halfway between the gulf and Quebec, it is still 20 miles across.

Legends of French Canada.

"Historically, sentimentally and acientally the St. Lawrence is one of America's most famous and beloved streams. Long before English settlers had crossed the Alleghenies, French missionaries and fur traders pushed down the St. Lawrence and over the portages to the heart of North America. Today the tiny villages, white parish churches, and the green patchwork fields of the descendants of these French pioneers make the St. Lawrence valley seem more like a part of Europe than America. Here is a land of legends—"The Dripping Indian," "The Phantom Priest," and "The Ghost Ship"—far removed from busy Montreal, Canada's largest city, which also shares the banks of the St. Lawrence.

"While vessels of any draft may ascend the St. Lawrence to Quebec, the next 100 miles to Montreal are open only to ocean steamers which do not draw more than 30 feet. Smaller ships may ascend the river today to Lake Ontario by using a combination of short canals and open channels, but the locks are narrow and the current too swift for heavy commercial traffic in many places. This channel is 14 feet.

"With a 30-foot channel throughout, ocean liners could ascend the St. Lawrence to Lake Ontario, where the new Welland canal of the same depth could carry them to Lake Erie and the other Great Lakes. Shipping direct by this route an exporter in Buffalo, for instance, would save more than 300 miles to Liverpool, in addition to the cost of barge or rail shipment to Atlantic coast ports."

Wins $1 for Rescuing Boy From River Waters

Camden, N. J.—"Gee, that's great! I didn't expect that!" exclaimed twelve-year-old Victor Croken when a park guard gave him $1 for saving Robert Banks, ten, from drowning in Cooper river.

After a day of swimming Victor was treading home when he saw Robert fall into the river. He plunged in and dragged the other boy ashore.
